

THE UNIVERSITY OF FINDLAY

Tenure-Track Position in Animal Science

The University of Findlay invites applications for a tenure-track position in animal science to begin August 1, 2022. The Department of Animal and Pre-Veterinary Studies boasts nearly 600 undergraduate students.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. in Animal Science or related agricultural field and be able to teach a variety of courses in animal science which may include courses in: farm business management, livestock merchandising, animal science, meat science, meat animal evaluation, animal breeding and genetics, animal nutrition, animal reproduction, forage and crop production, and livestock production and management. Candidates that are ABD at the time of application will also be considered. Candidate must possess terminal degree at time of appointment. Prior teaching experience is preferred. A willingness and desire to advise undergraduate students in Animal Science is desired. Must be able to develop and manage an undergraduate research program in a field compatible with resources available. Rank as assistant or associate professor and salary are commensurate with qualifications. Candidates must be committed to student-centered education as well as professional development and scholarship.

The University of Findlay is a Carnegie Master's/L institution which has grown from 2,000 to over 4,000 students in the last twenty years and is the largest private university in northwest Ohio. Founded in 1882, The University provides innovative programs grounded in the liberal arts and sciences to prepare students for meaningful lives and productive careers. The University is committed to the education of diverse students and enrolls students from nearly 40 nations and most US states.

The City of Findlay, just south of Toledo and located approximately 1.5 hours from Columbus, Dayton and Detroit, has been designated a "dreamtown" by Demographics Daily, repeatedly named one of the top 20 micropolitan areas (small towns) in the United States by Site Selection magazine and is the only municipality in Ohio to be selected three times as one of the 100 Best Communities for Young People by America's Promise.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. The UF Employment Application may be found on the website at: <https://www.findlay.edu/offices/businessaffairs/humanresources/Open-Positions>. For optimal consideration for this exciting opportunity, send a cover letter; current Curriculum Vitae; a statement of teaching philosophy; the names and contact information of three professional references; and a complete faculty application to: Human Resources, The University of Findlay, 1000 N. Main Street Findlay, Ohio 45840. Materials may also be emailed to HR@findlay.edu. Make sure to indicate that the application is for the "Animal Science" position. The University of Findlay is an equal opportunity employer and educator. For more information on The University of Findlay, visit <http://www.findlay.edu>.

The University of Findlay is an Equal Opportunity Employer/Affirmative Action Employer/
Male/Female/Disabled/Vet.