

Assistant Professor of Agricultural Education
(Agricultural Leadership & Extension)
Department of Agricultural Sciences | Clemson University

The Department of Agricultural Sciences within the College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Life Sciences (CAFLS) at Clemson University invites applications for a 12-month, tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level with a 50% teaching and 50% research appointment. Position responsibilities will include: a) providing leadership for the undergraduate program in agricultural leadership and extension, b) teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in agricultural leadership and extension c) advising undergraduate and graduate students, d) advising student organizations, e) service on departmental, college, and university committees, f) participating in outreach and g) conducting research in the field of agricultural leadership and extension education.

Clemson University is a R1 Land Grant university located on the shores of Lake Hartwell within view of the Blue Ridge Mountains in the Upper Piedmont of South Carolina, USA. The Clemson student body consists of about 18,000 undergraduate students and 4,300 graduate students. The 1,400-acre campus is part of the 18,000 acres of University Farms and Forests devoted to teaching and research. U.S. News and World Report has consistently ranked Clemson University among the nation's top 25 public universities.

Review of applications will begin on 03/31/2022.

The position can be viewed at <http://apply.interfolio.com/103066>

Please feel free to contact us if you have questions or need additional information.

Dr. Dale Layfield
Associate Professor, Leadership/Extension Faculty Search Committee Chair
Department of Agricultural Sciences
dlayfie@clemson.edu